PAPER MILL EMPLOYEE VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

J. Russ Loses Right Hand While Operating Cutter Machine—Brakeman Is Hurt

J. Russ, an employee of the Rhinelander Paper Company, was the victim of a most distressing accident while at work in the mill, Monday afternoon. In operating the big power paper cutting machine, known as the reamer, he lost his right hand.

The machine is controlled by a lever which lowers the knife at the will of the operator. The knife, after ascending, locks itself automatically and remains stationary until the lever is again touched. Mr. Russ was cutting a ream of paper and when the knife moved upward he reached under to adjust the ream. For some unaccountable cause, the knife failed to lock and rapidly descending fell on Russ' hand, completely severing the member at the wrist. The accident occurred so quickly that it was many seconds before the man realized the terrible misfortune which had befallen him. His fellow workers, though faint from the awful sight, lost no time in rushing to his assistance. Russ was removed to the hospital and immediately operated on and later was taken to his home on Wabash street.

The unfortunate man is about thirty years of age and has a wife and one child who depend on him for support. He feels his ill luck keenly and is entitled to much sympathy. Switchman Is Hurt

Switchman Kelley, of the Soo line yards in this city, was severely bruised about the legs last Saturday when his trousers came in contact with a portion of the machinery on the exterior of the switch engine. He was being dragged under the wheels when the engine was stopped just in time to avoid a serious accident.

Indian Is Killed

An Indian from the Lac du Flambeau reservation was killed one day this week at Woodruff when he attempted to board a Northwestern train.

DEFEATS A FAST TEAM

Co. L Wins Basket Ball Game From Ex-College Champions.

Co. L basket ball team composed of Swedberg, Vaughan, Segerstrom, Arnold and Rutz went against the hardest proposition of the season at Arbor Vitae, Saturday evening, playing the ex-college champions of that village. This aggregation knows the game from A to Z and plays to win. Fortunately for the Rhinelander team, Arbor Vitae's strongest player, Little, former star on the Stevens Point Normal team, was out of commission and Co. L won by a score of 29 to 21.

Elsen, of Arbor Vitae, who is a giant in height, has a faculty of making baskets full length of the hall. He is a brother of Elsen, of the Merrill foot ball eleven, who will be remembered by the high school boys of this city.

Arbor Vitae and Co. L teams meet for a return game at the Armory in this city next Saturday evening. The visitors will put their best men into the field and the game bids fair to be interesting from start to finish. Co. L boys hope the public will favor them with a record breaking attendance.

MAY REACH 500 MARK.

Lake Camp M. W. A. Will Increase Its Membership List.

S. J. Williams, deputy district organizer for the Modern Woodman society, is in the city for the purpose of increasing the membership of Lake Camp 1749. The local lodge now has 425 members and it is the aim of the deputy to raise this number to the 500 mark within the next month. Each member of the lodge has been requested to do his share in securing new candidates. Already a long list of applications have been received and there is not a doubt but what Mr. Williams' ambition will be realized. The new class will be adopted the forepart of April.

The last big class to be taken in to Lake Camp was on July 4th, 1908, the date of the big Woodman picnic. Mr. Williams was here at that time, promoting the work and met with unusual success. With 500 members Rhinelander will have the largest Modern Woodman lodge in Northern Wisconsin.

OFFICER AND TOUCH HAVE AN ENCOUNTER

Policeman Mike Sullivan Convinces An Abusive Bully That He Is a Citizen

If there is any doubt existing in the mind of a certain inmate of the county jail about Officer Mike Sullivan not being a citizen of the United States, said inmate will hereafter be careful not to express such doubt in public.

At a Brown Street restaurant Sunday night, Officer Sullivan and a friend were discussing the Philadelphia strike situation. The conversation, it seems, did not sound soothing to the ears of a big rough appearing individual, who much the worse for liquor, sat on a high lunch stool munching a sandwich. Suddenly he wheeled about and addressing the policeman, plainly told him that any man who talked like he (Sullivan) did was a fool and not an American citizen. It was to state here that the officer's heavy overcoat concealed his star which fact kept the stranger from knowing that he was in the presence of a blue coat.

At first Sullivan paid no attention to the tough's remarks, but as he became more abusive the officer warned him to keep quiet. This he refused to do and then the guardian of the law was forced to take more strenuous measures. The fellow showed fight and eye witnesses claim that the mix-up which ensued would put the recent Volga-Nelson battle to shame. Throughout the struggle Sullivan had considerable the best of his opponent and once the victim called for the police. It was a surprised and humiliated bully, who finally learning that he was in the power of a policeman, submitted to Sullivan placing the irons over his wrists. At the city jail the subdued prisoner, nursing a discolored eye and with the crimson flowing freely from his nasal organ, pleaded for his liberty, saying that he was fully convinced that Sullivan is an American.

WRECKER IN CITY

The Northwestern wrecking outfit and crew from Antigo was in the city Sunday afternoon picking up car wheels which have been discarded at this station during the winter. The wrecker attracted no small amount of attention and a crowd gathered at the railway yards to watch it operate.

MEETING IS CALLED FOR THURSDAY NIGHT

All Fans Will Gather At City Hall To Organize Base Ball Team For 1910.

Next Thursday evening, March 10, at the City Hall building there will be held the first base ball meeting of the year at which a team for the coming season will be organized.

Appeal To Fans

All fans in the city are requested to be present and take an active part in the proceedings at this meeting. Citizens should look upon a good ball team as a necessary factor in the community. It is generally the symbol of a live town and serves to advertise the city in an impressive manner before the people of the outside world. At this enlightened day and age a man, who takes no interest in the great national game, is regarded as behind the times and not living up to his standard as a true American citizen.

During the last two seasons Rhinelander has somewhat distinguished itself in the matter of base ball, having had in the field semi-professional teams which ranked among the strongest in northern Wisconsin. Several players, who are now in the leagues, received their early training on the local diamond. Judging by the material in sight for this year the season of 1910 will mark a wonderful epoch in the base ball history of Rhinelander.

Manager Bellie promises that if he is successful in signing the men he now has in view, the team will be the star of them all, even eclipsing the famous line-up seen here in the early nineties. All that is needed to fulfill this end is the undivided support of the public. Let every one show the right spirit from the start by attending the meeting Thursday night.

Goes to Fond du Lac

John Sohr, who played center field with Rhinelander last season, will be given a try-out this spring with the Fond du Lac team of the W-L League. John is a clever little performer and it would not surprise the fans to see him make good in fast company.

OLD INDIANS VISIT CITY

Nishkio and Squaw Have Seen Heap Many Winters

Several Indians from the Lac du Flambeau reservation were in the city on one of their regular trading expeditions, Tuesday. Among the band was Nishkio and his squaw, who have the distinction of being the two oldest Chippewas living on the reservation. Nishkio claims to have seen 102 snows (winters) while his helpmate is said to be at least 100 years of age. Both are in excellent health and are wonderfully active considering their uncommon ages. Old Nishkio seems to take pride in the assertion that he has never required the services of the Medicine Man in his life. Those who know him say that he can still shoot a rifle with almost as much accuracy as many of the young bucks and accompanies the members of the tribe on long hunting trips. He is a veteran tobacco smoker, but to his credit, has never had a hankering for fire water.

Nishkio and squaw have in the neighborhood of 100 children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, the majority of whom reside on the reservation. The thought of journeying to the happy hunting grounds never enters the minds of the ancient couple who apparently have the opinion that they will live forever.

VANDALS AT DEPOT.

Not contented with having demolished the gun machines in the waiting rooms at the Northwestern depot, the unknown vandals attacked the weighing machine in the men's department, the other night, breaking off the register hands on the dial. These depredations are believed to be the work of idle boys who stay about the depot. A Northwestern detective has been in the city several times trying to catch the guilty ones, but has always failed to do so. Chief of Police Straub has ordered the lads to keep away from the station hereafter and it will not be fortunate for those who neglect to obey the chief's instructions.

RESIGNS AS REPORTER

Geo. Hart Gives Up Duties in 16th Judicial Circuit

Geo. Hart has resigned his position as official reporter for the sixteenth judicial circuit, such resignation having taken effect Tuesday. He will be succeeded by Walter A. Evers, who since October 1, 1908, has been deputy official reporter for this circuit.

Mr. Hart was forced to abandon his duties on account of ill health. For several years past he has been afflicted with partial paralysis of the nerves which disease has prevented him from performing any active work for some time. Accompanied by his wife he will shortly depart for the Pacific coast where he believes the climate will benefit him. He does not intend to permanently reside there.

Mr. Hart has served as court reporter under Judges C. V. Bardou, W. C. Silverthorne and E. H. Reid. In Rhinelander he has a retinue of personal friends who regret to hear of his resignation and hope that his sojourn in the west will greatly improve his physical condition.

Walter A. Evers, the new reporter, who took the oath of office last Friday morning has been accompanying Judge Reid to this city for the last year or more and is by no means a stranger here. At one time he was deputy official reporter for the sixth judicial circuit at LaCrosse.

WORK ON METHODIST CHURCH IS FINISHED

Remodeled Structure Will Be Re-Dedicated With Fitting Ceremony Sunday

Work on the remodeling of the M. E. Church in this city is completed and the edifice will be re-dedicated with fitting ceremony next Sunday. Rev. Ludwig, in the following communication, invites the people of the city to attend the services.

The saying "Things worth while having are a long while coming" is sometimes true. To make an old inadequate building new, practical and convenient is a bold undertaking. It takes time, much planning, hard battling against difficulties and some cost.

But at last, thanks to the unwearied energy of the chairman of the building committee and his supporters, the proverbial help of the Ladies' Aid Society; the gifts of a generous constituency in the church and liberal friends outside of the church, we have what we have—nothing elaborate, but just a suitable cozy, home-like little church. Special services with special music and special speakers will be held both morning and evening.

Come early and secure a seat.

A Beautiful Structure.

The M. E. church as it now appears, after undergoing alterations and improvements at the hands of the carpenters and decorators, is a beautiful house of worship in which the congregation may take just pride. It is practically a new structure and a credit to the city. The building work was in charge of Frank Hibbs and the attractive interior finish and decorating was done by Albert Brouette.

May Build Church.

It is reported that the Methodist people in the eastern part of the county are contemplating the erection of a new church to be located near Gagen.

FAREWELL TO RHINELANDER

Dr. and Mrs. S. R. Stone leave Rhinelander next Saturday evening for Atlanta, Ga., their future home. As stated in the New North, three weeks ago, the doctor will practice his profession in that city.

The citizens of Rhinelander are sorry to see the departure of the doctor and his estimable wife as they are people such as any community would be proud to claim as residents. Both have been prominent in church and social life and from those circles they will be greatly missed. The best of wishes go with Dr. and Mrs. Stone to their southern home.

Class number 1, of the Congregational Sunday school, will hold a food sale at Fredott's club rooms, Saturday afternoon.

FROM NEARBY TOWNS

Marquette—The Northwestern officials are making a thorough investigation to ascertain what caused the derailment of passenger train number 2. The general opinion prevails that the wreck resulted from the spreading of the rails.

Tomahawk—A creamery plant to cost $4000 is soon to be established in this city by E. R. Godfrey & Sons Co., of Milwaukee. A site has been purchased from the Bradley company just west of the Fourth St. bridge and it is expected that the creamery will be in operation by May 1.

Ladysmith—A representative of the Chippewa Sugar Company has contracted with a number of farmers in this vicinity for the raising of sugar beets. The company agrees to pay $4.75 per ton for beets delivered in October and $5.00 per ton for beets delivered in November. There will be hundreds of acres in Rock county planted with beets this spring and the industry promises to become a leading one.

Crandon—The building committee of the county board has accepted the new court house, just completed. The contractor and the architect have been paid for their services and the elegant structure has been turned over to the county.

Stevens Point—Rev. Jacob Patch, pastor of the Lutheran church, is the oldest active minister in the state is dead at his home in this city at the unusual age of 95 years. He was of the Presbyterian faith and for many years, when Wisconsin was unsettled, traveled through the state on horse back preaching at school houses and settlers' homes.

Marshfield—Probably the smallest newspaper in the state is published by two young boys, William Connor Jr., and Porter Harney, in this city. The paper is a single sheet 8x11 inches, printed on one side. The subscription list numbers 150 names and much advertising in local is carried. The Pleasant Hill News is the name of the paper. Young Connor is the son of W. D. Connor and his partner is the son of David Harney, a real estate dealer.

Iron River—The state supreme court has affirmed the decision of the circuit court of Douglas county in the verdict of $2500 damages to Peter Forsyth of this city, in his suit against the Iron River Lumber Company for injuries received two years ago while at work in the company's saw mill.

Hurley—Chas. Bushy, a former saloon keeper of this city, is under arrest charged with being engaged in the white slave traffic. A young widow, aged nineteen years, who escaped half clad from a disreputable lath police an astounding story of how she had been sold to the resort proprietor by Bushy for fifty dollars. The man had hired her to go to work as a domestic at Ely, but when they arrived there he took her directly to the dive where she was kept against her will. The statement is made that Bushy has followed this business for some time and that he sets from fifty to twenty-five dollars for each girl he secures for immoral purposes.

New London—A tidal wave of reform is soon to sweep over this city. District Attorney Severson has in his possession evidence against saloon men who have violated the law by selling to minors and keeping their places of business open after hours. Boys, fifteen years of age, have been sold beer in some of the saloons at all hours of night. The anti-saloon league hopes that the campaign will result in a few liquor dealers losing their licenses.

Ashland—Drinking cups in the public school buildings of this city must go. Supt. Hooper says that before the passing of many days he will have all the cups replaced by fountains. It has been shown conclusively that diseases such as diphtheria and scarlet fever, result in many cases from children drinking out of public cups.

Hurley—The voters in the town of Vaughan will probably have an opportunity to vote on the saloon license question this spring. The Anti-Saloon League of the state will make a rousing campaign here in the behalf of "no license" and there are many people of the opinion that the town may go "dry." Several prohibition speakers sent out by the Anti will make addresses here between now and election day.

Ironwood—H. M. Alwood, trackman at the Montreal mine, died in an Ashland hospital as the result of injuries received by falling a distance of 125 feet down a shaft.

Royalton—Twelve head of cattle out of the Lawrence Grover herd were found infected with tuberculosis and ordered killed by the state veterinary.

Would Have Cost Him His Life—Oscar Bowman, Lebanon, Ky., writes: "I have used Foley's Kidney Remedy and take great pleasure in stating it cured me permanently of kidney disease which certainly would have cost me my life."

HONORED BY BIG FOUR

Chas. Belliel Is Given Banquet and Presented With Gift.

Another enjoyable banquet by the Big Four was held at Henniger's cafe Tuesday evening in honor of the thirty-seventh birthday of Charles Augustus Belliel, the base ball manager. Covers were laid for twenty.

Before attacking the viands, Dr. J. T. Elliott, in behalf of the members, presented Charles with a set of solid gold cuff buttons as a mark of appreciation of his loyalty to the club and the able manner in which he has managed the ball team. The gift and the good spirit with it, completely stunned Charles for the time being, but after recovering his composure he made a brilliant little speech, thanking the club most heartily.

After the spread had vanished each one present was called upon for a song or story. Mr. Garthe, a guest from St. Louis, told an amusing tale of his experience on an ice boat at Delavan Lake.

Before the party disbanded Dr. Elliott tendered his resignation as president of the club. He will be succeeded by Willard Fisher.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Rhinelander People Know How to Save It

Many Rhinelander people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

W. H. Knox, of Eagle River, Wis. says: "I have used five or six of Doan's Kidney Pills and am well pleased with the results. I was troubled by weak kidneys for some time and though I tried various remedies, I was unable to find relief, until I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have been steadily improving since using them and feel confident that they will completely cure me. I hope that other persons who are suffering from kidney trouble will try Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

INSTALL MOVING PICTURES

A contract has been awarded for the construction of an auditorium in connection with St. Mary's School in South Norwalk, Conn., in which for an hour each day a moving picture show will be given.

Pictures of foreign countries and of animal life will be shown and will serve as lectures in Geography and in natural history and there will be humorous pictures the faculty believing laughter wholesome. After the show is concluded each pupil will be called upon to write an account of what he has seen. There will be films on heavier themes for older pupils.

It is expected the new system will revolutionize the system of instruction in public schools.

Capt. Bogardus again hits the Bull's Eye

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 160 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says: "I have suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and have used several well known kidney medicines all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I was subjected to severe backache and pains in my kidneys with oppression and of ten times a cloudy voiding. While upon arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and once more feel like my own self. All this I owe solely to Foley's Kidney Pills and always recommend them to my fellow sufferers."

TO LOCATE AT WAUSAU

M. J. Slattery has decided to engage in the tailoring business at Wausau and has rented a building there for that purpose. His family will not leave this city until next June.

After the destruction of his shop by fire two weeks ago, Mr. Slattery intended to still continue business here, but was unsuccessful in his search for a suitable location. He thinks that there is a good opening for another tailor at Wausau. Mr. Slattery and family have resided in Rhinelander for the last four years and during that time have made many friends who will be sorry to note their departure.

Indian Dandruff Remedy

Entirely Unlike All Others—Free from Alcohol

Indian Shampoo

That is one great reason for its universal success. More than that—it is the only natural treatment for all hair troubles, because it contains the Essence of Herbs, which start the natural flow of oils to the hair and stimulate the hair follicles to life and health. Other hair tonics are full of alcohol, which not only stunts the growth but removes the natural oil on which the life of the hair depends. Indian Dandruff Remedy contains only one-half of one percent of alcohol and no artificial oils or chemicals. It is absolutely harmless and as refreshing and invigorating as any hair dressing. Its clean, antiseptic odor and delightful feeling to the user cannot be had in any other preparation. A short trial will show astonishing results.

Excitement reached a white heat at the Ballinger-Pinchot trial the first of the week when Gifford Pinchot on the witness stand boldly accused Ballinger of betraying the people and deceiving President Taft.

Mr. Roosevelt is demonstrating to the whole world that the old question "What will we do with our ex-presidents?" is wholly unnecessary in his case. He is perfectly able to take care of himself. He could support himself in one of a half dozen different lines without over exertion.

The officers of practically all of the great meat concerns have been indicted by a New Jersey court for forming an illegal combination, to force up the price of meats. Will these men stand trial on the merits of the case or will they use every technicality to prevent such decision? We must wait and see.

Neither anarchism, socialism nor free love is being taught in the University of Wisconsin or being encouraged in any way by the faculty or other officials of that institution. This is the gist of a report made by the board of visitors to the board of regents, the supreme governing body of the university, "Whom the especial interests cannot rule they would ruin." They fear the broad philanthropic teaching of the University and now are trying to belittle its good work by besmirking it.

William E. Curtiss says:
Never since Alexander the Great entered Babylon, with the one exception of Julius Caesar's return from his campaign in Gaul, has the continent of Europe been so stirred up by the prospect of a visitor as it is now in arranging for the reception of Theodore Roosevelt. Kings and emperors, college professors and scientists, soldiers and statesmen, learned societies and legislative assemblies are preparing to give him a triumphant welcome.

WARNING TO PRESIDENT.
A short time ago just as President Taft was upholding the infamous Payne-Cannon-Aldrich tariff before a New York audience, the Chicago Tribune was giving out its newspaper poll on a Republican President for 1912. This poll was confined solely to republican papers. The Tribune did not suggest a choice in any sense and still the man in power received only about one third of all the votes cast. Out of 3550 President Taft received but 1093, and Roosevelt received 1250. LaFollette was third in choice and Governor Hughes of New York, fourth. Gifford Pinchot, the forester, who was summarily removed from office by the President, received thirty votes, scattered over the twenty-six states represented west of the Alleghany's. In this same New York speech Mr. Taft speaks of his expected unpopularity and says it has been a common thing at the end of the first year in office of all past presidents, except Theodore Roosevelt.

We believe it lies with the President to overcome this antagonism but he must cut loose from Cannon, Aldrich and Ballinger and carry out the Roosevelt policies as he pledged himself to do.

The people are impatient with his smooth talk without action; they want results. Attacks on the servants of the people "The Progressives" who are doing everything in their power to carry out the Republican platform of 1904 will not blind the masses to the merits of the case. Mr. Taft, if you wish the people's support be their servant and do their bidding and stop tickling the special interests or it will be too late to remedy the evils already done. It will take a long time for you to be sprinkled with mud such men as Dolliver, Pinchot, Beveridge, Cummings, Cooper and LaFollette, better build up your own reputation with good deeds than attempt it, or it will soon be too late and the cry will be "Lost! Lost! Lost! Lost forever."

MUST PAY TAX
The supreme court of Ohio has handed down a decision to the effect that all saloon men in "dry" counties, who are selling "near beer," must pay the Alken liquor tax of money was followed by a "LaFol Teacher.

$1,000 per year. About $1,000,000 is letter," that in turn may be followed involved and the decision is admitt by a "Blind Idol," or "A Pitchfork," expected to be a mut, but merely a self-sustaining voice in the wilderness.

In many communities in Wisconsin, where there is no license, dealers are getting around the law by selling this substitute for beer which is about the same as the genuine beverage only under a more modified name. "Near beer" may not be intoxicating, but it has been known to make some men awfully drunk, even in Oneida county.

DOWN WITH CANNON AND CANNONISM
The Republican state convention of Dakota passed a resolution at its meeting last week not only condemning Cannon but Cannonism.

The platform says in part: "We commend President Taft for his reiterated declarations of loyalty to the Roosevelt principles of Progressive Republicanism, and we pledge his administration the support of the Progressive Republicans of South Dakota in its efforts to obtain the enactment of legislation embodying these principles.

"The dominating issue in the coming campaign is the wresting of control of national legislation from special interests entrenched behind Speaker Cannon of the house, and Leader Aldrich of the senate, and their supporters. It is not sufficient that Speaker Cannon be retired. It is essential that a successor be elected who is committed to and is a supporter of Progressive principles. The Progressive Republicans of South Dakota will not support a candidate for the primary who does not stand unequivocally on this platform."

THE WEEKLY PRESS
Educator E. A. Winslow of the New England Journal of Education tells the editors in the great National Editorial Association that the editor of the weekly paper must be a future leader in thought. The great dailies owned by corporations can not be controlled by a single mind and he fears the magazines are going to tend in the same way although there are three or four notable exceptions now, but the weekly owned and edited by a single man must be the leader in thought.

Journalism must accept the new responsibility of leadership. It must lead the conversation of the masses. The press has a remarkable opportunity if it will accept responsibility but as a mere newspaper it is valueless for influence. Any paper that is left in the car because a man can get all there is in it for him or the fly, may quote an immense circulation, but its influence is of no account.

The press must never have a political party nor corporate wealth behind it. There must be absolute faith in the people. It must represent all the people. It must be the first to see tidal waves approaching. One policeman in Chelsea in December saved hundreds of lives because he saw the tidal wave far out in the harbor and sounded the alarm. So the daily press must no longer be merely a chronicler of what has happened, but it must have the prophetic instinct to warn of dangers and great coming events.

It must be absolutely frank with its readers. Talk of publicity as to choice and Governor Hughes of New York, fourth. Gifford Pinchot, the forester, who was summarily removed from office by the President, received thirty votes, scattered over the twenty-six states represented west of the Alleghany's. In this same New York speech Mr. Taft speaks of his expected unpopularity and says it has been a common thing at the end of the first year in office of all past presidents, except Theodore Roosevelt.

A prominent metropolitan daily is now a vast institution requiring a million dollars in sight for its extortion with frightful risks, re- quiring such business capacity as revelations are made concerning the match financial responsibility that is not easy to see how an editor can own it, and, if not, it is not easy for his personality to dominate it or for the permanency of his influence to be assured.

The magazine is in great danger of becoming an institution with the same conditions and limitations. Just is now a Harvey, a Munsey, or a Mc-says: "It is not an entirely new and retains the combination of individual ownership and editorial responsibility, and in them there is much hope, but even here it taxes one's land, England, have charged it; Ben Franchise has proved it; Thomas W. Lawson has proved it."

The articles in these three magazines and in Collier's Weekly during the past six months will have as great an influence in arousing the American people as did the publication of Uncle Tom's cabin. Small wonder that the Big Business Interests in Wall St. should desire their henchmen in Washington to throttle these publications by imposing prohibitive postage rates. — Western

LEGAL QUESTION CAUSES DELAY

Enforcement of Corporation Tax Law Necessarily Must Be Put Off for Some Time.

APPROPRIATION NOT IN ORDER

Must Be Specific, and Congress Will Be Called On to Make It Regular —Progressives Fear Nullification of Law.

Washington.—Because the appropriation of $100,000 for the enforcement of the corporation tax law did not conform to the requirements of the act of 1892, which says that appropriations for clerk hire to be expended in the District of Columbia must be specific, the president has discovered that it will not be possible to give force and effect to the publicity features of the law, unless there be a specific appropriation of $50,000 to pay for the clerks needed to properly file and index the returns.

The president made known his views in the matter in a letter to the secretary of the treasury. Because they fear the laying open of their affairs to commercial rivals men interested in corporations have for months been importuning the president and congress to bring about a modification of the publicity feature of the corporation tax law. The president and the attorney general have been at work upon the matter and while the president desires to uphold the publicity feature of the law, he, at the same time, was moved by the complaints of these business men, and in his letter he clearly pointed the way to avoid the enforcement of that feature.

The President's Position.
In his letter to the secretary of the treasury, the president explains that under section 4 of the act of August 5, 1892, the secretary of the treasury is prohibited from using any part of the special appropriation of $100,000 for the employment of persons within the District of Columbia.

"In my judgment, the failure to make a specific appropriation for the purpose was an oversight, due to the supposition that the $100,000 might be applied in part to the purpose under discussion, and that it was, as already said, the intention of congress to make these records different from the ordinary internal revenue records, and really subject to general public inspection. But with the situation as it is nothing remains to be done except for you to state the case to the house of representatives, where appropriation bills are properly introduced, and to suggest that if the construction which seems to me to be the right one is to be carried into execution, there must be an appropriation of $50,000 for the specific purpose, and with a further statement that if no such appropriation is made, the only course open to those who are executing the law in the department will be to treat the returns as other internal records."

In the letter of Charles D. Martin, acting secretary of the treasury, to the speaker of the house, submitting the estimate for the appropriation this significant language occurs: "In the absence of the appropriation above described, the secretary of the treasury will treat the corporation tax returns as other internal revenue returns are treated."

In the letter of R. E. Cable, commissioner of internal revenue, to the secretary of the interior, of same date as that of the acting secretary of the treasury and of the president, this language is used: "If it was the intent of congress that the returns made under this section of the tariff act were not to be open to general inspection this appropriation need not be granted."

As Congress Looks at It.
Members of congress regarded this as an invitation to them not to take action. Immediately there arose all kinds of objections to the adoption of legislation making the appropriation. Chairman Tawney of the appropriation committee said there need be no rush and pointed out to several members that such legislation or an appropriation bill would be subject to a point of order, for the reason that it changed existing law. It was also said that there would be no move to make the appropriation unless the committee on ways and means first brought in a bill authorizing the rental of quarters and the employment of the necessary clerks.

All this is in strange contrast with the position taken in regard to the corporation tax law when it was under consideration in Congress. It was then urged that one of the principal benefits of this law was its publicity feature. Even the president, in a special message, said:

"Another merit of this tax is the federal supervision which must be exercised in order to make the law effective over the annual accounts and business transactions of all corporations. While the faculty of assuming a corporate form has been of the utmost utility in the business world it is also true that substantially all of the abuses and all of the evils which have aroused the public to the necessity of reform were made possible by the use of this very faculty. If now, by a perfectly legitimate and effective system of taxation, we are incidentally able to possess the government and the stockholders, and the public of the knowledge of the real business transactions and the gains and profits of every corporation in the country, we have made a long step toward that supervisory control of corporations which may prevent a further abuse of power."

Fear Nullification of Law.
The Progressives regard the attitude which has been taken toward the corporation tax law as a virtual effort to nullify the only feature of that statute which in any way commended it to public regard. They opposed it from the start because its inception was in an effort to defeat the enactment of an income tax. It was largely instrumental in bringing about the defeat of the proposed income tax law which was pending at the time.

It is pointed out that the appropriation for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the tariff board is in practically the same condition as that which makes the appropriation for the corporation tax law not available within the District of Columbia. There has been a number of other blanket appropriation made, some under the interior department and some expended under other departments for clerk hire within the District of Columbia, which do not in any way comply with the requirements of the statute of 1892 requiring that such appropriation shall be specific.

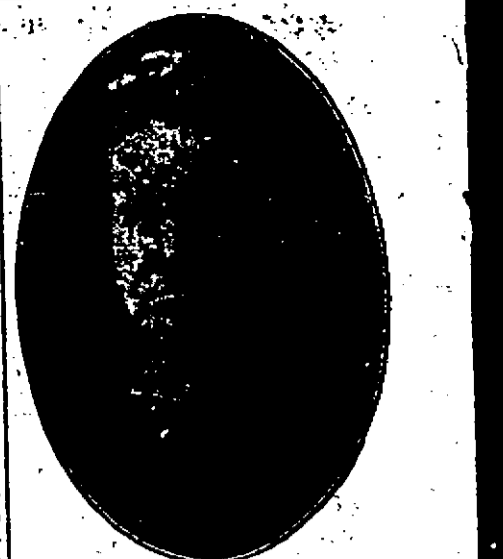

Point Made by Progressives.
The Progressives in the senate and the house have scored one in the withdrawal for the time at least, of the bill providing for a legislative council for the government of Alaska. This council was to be appointed by the president.

Senator Borah characterized the bill as the "sum of all iniquities." The president had declared in favor of such a council, and it was with regret that he was compelled to consent that the bill providing for it should lose the right of way which it had in the senate. He did this after Senator Borah and some of the other senators told him the exact situation and why they were opposed to the measure. They contend that the bill is providing a back door by which the Guggenheim-Morgan-Standard Oil interests will secure control of the railroad concessions and the natural resources of Alaska. Senator Dolliver summed up his criticism of the bill in one word, "rotten." It was made very plain in the senate that the bill could not get by, and so, with the consent of the president, it was withdrawn in order that the postal savings bank bill might have a clear way.

Friends of Postal Banks Active.
There is a genuine effort being made to get the friends of postal banks in the senate together, and it seems that it will be successful. The Smoot amendment, which provides for the investment by the United States treasurer of postal funds refused as deposits by banks in the states by which they are collected, is causing trouble, but the senator from Utah will in all probability consent to the withdrawal of that amendment and to the putting of the bill back into the form in which it was originally reported from the committee.

The situation is such that it is expected a vote can be had upon this bill some time either the latter part of February or early in March. The only extended argument which it is known is to be made against it will be made by Senator Bailey upon the constitutional question.

Overweights.

The excessive mortality of over weights has been published by life insurance statisticians and the phenomenon must be considered in football discussions. It is now a proved fact that the men who are barred from the game are the ones who live the longest and though mere length of life is no criterion of its usefulness, yet it is a fair assumption that the longest lived are the most vigorous and therefore the best brain workers.

The colleges are then spending the most money on the students who will give the least returns. Every now and then some ingenious fellow publishes statistics showing that students able to take part in sports outlive those too defective to take any part at all, as though that needed numerical proof.

The new statistics show that the healthy underweights excluded from football are fitter for survival in America than the overweights of the teams.—American Medicine.

Bananas.
A few years ago banana peddlers were everywhere and garbage cans and too often the streets, showed signs of the popularity of bananas, but nowadays many people buy them only occasionally, for the sake of remembrance and then buy no more until they forget how bad the last lot was. People used to keep a dozen or two on hand all the time for the children and a peddler would sell out a cartload on one block, but the nowadays banana is sold on a small scale except at the big markets and at fairs. Tip has several friends who used to think bananas were necessary to health and still say so, but they have a hard time getting hold of the right ripe ones, for such good yellow boys are to be had only at a few fancy fruit stores and sell for 50 cents to a dollar a dozen.—New York Press

LUNG HEMORRHAGES

(I TOOK PE-RU-NA.)

MISS NINETTE PORTER.
Miss Ninette Porter, Bralntree, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me. I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it. I wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He kindly gave me free advice."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

A Bad Cough.

Mrs. Emma Martin, Odessa, Mo., writes: "I cannot thank you enough for curing me."

"For two years I doctored my cough, which cost me many dollars, but still I seemed to get worse. My cough was so bad I could not sleep."

"Finally I purchased a bottle of Peruna. After the use of six bottles I feel that I am cured."

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.

He Will Lecture at the Opera House This Evening.

George Blackstone, Irving, the town booster, will speak at the Grand Opera House in this city this evening. Everybody should turn out to hear this man whom the Hutchinson, Kas., Daily News calls "a doctor of municipal ills." He will tell the people how they can make Rhinelander a live up-to-date city and a bright spot on the map. He will relate the plans being successfully worked in other cities to promote growth and stimulate trade and illustrate how such schemes can be carried out in this city.

Mr. Irving is spending the day calling on the business men, getting facts and figures on the city's industrial and commercial condition, such material to be used in his lecture. He is also learning just what Rhinelander needs and will tell the citizens how to get it. Go and hear him boost.

Avoid the Cheap and "Big Can" Baking Powders.

The cheap baking powders have but one recommendation; they certainly give the purchaser plenty of powder for his money but it's not all baking powder; the bulk is made up of cheap material that have no leavening power. These powders are so carelessly made from inferior materials that they will not make light wholesome food. Further, these cheap baking powders have a very small percentage of leavening gas; therefore it takes from two to three times as much of such powder to raise the cake or biscuit as it does of Calumet Baking Powder. Therefore in the long run the actual cost to the consumer of the cheap powders is more than the Calumet would be. Cheap baking powders leave the bread sometimes bleached and acid. Sometimes yellow and alkaline and often unpalatable. They are never of uniform strength and quality.

Why not buy a perfectly wholesome baking powder like Calumet that is at the same time moderate in price and one which can be relied upon? Calumet is always the same, keeps indefinitely and gives the cook the least trouble.

The board decided to hold a summer session six weeks in length in each of the eight normal schools. It was decided to establish three long term institutes of six weeks each, the institutes to be located in Oconto county, Oneida county, Eau Claire county. The board further decided that it was absolutely necessary to charge a tuition fee of $5 for the term of six weeks in each of the schools mentioned—C. P. Cary, State Superintendent.

TUESDAY NIGHT LECTURES

Tuesday night Mr. Seymour gave the second of his series of lectures the subject being Father Marquette. He presented a very interesting account of the life, explorations, and character of the great missionary. A fair sized crowd, double that of last week, listened to him with appreciation. There is still room for a hundred more in the Main Room, however. The next lecture, which promises to be the most interesting of the series, will be given next Tuesday evening, at which time Mr. Seymour will talk on Queen Elizabeth. Nearly seventy-five rooters went to Antigo last Saturday to see the games between Rhinelander and that city. The contest took place in the Opera House, which was crowded to its utmost capacity, the door receipts being $145. The games between the girls' teams occurred first, with Mabel Sannas, Edna Johnson, Lenore Slattery, Ida Thurston and Marguerite McDonald on the floor for Rhinelander. It was a splendid exhibition of basket ball, and resulted in favor of our team 20-5. In the second game we were not so fortunate, the final score being 23-10 in favor of Antigo. But the game was by no means an easy one for Antigo to win, and was hotly fought during both halves.

SEYMOUR LECTURES

PROF. SEYMOUR has larger and larger audiences each time he speaks at the High School. People are much pleased and consider his lectures intellectual treats.

Have you heard him at all?

He lectures next Tuesday evening on "Queen Elizabeth," and some, who heard this particular lecture, have given us assurance that it will be another great treat.

CHAPTER V.

My ankle had taken its wonted time to recover. I was on my feet again and into the woods.

July came, and one afternoon I sat in the mouth of the path just where I had played the bounding harlequin for the benefit of the lovely visitor at Quesnay.

I heard the light snipping of a twig and a swish of branches from the direction in which I faced. Evidently some one was approaching the glade, though concealed from me for the moment by the winding of the path. Taking it for Saffron as a matter of course—for we had arranged to meet at that time and place—I raised my voice in what I intended for a merry yodel of greeting.

I yodeled loud, I yodeled long, and my best performance was not unresponsive of calamity to the poultry yard. And when my mouth was at its widest in the production of these shocking yodels the person approaching came round a turn in the path and within full sight of me. To my horror it was Mme. d'Armand.

I grew so furiously red that it burned me. I was plainly a lunatic, whooping the lonely peace of the woods into

"Then she turned and ran away from you?"

"Yes," he said, swallowing painfully. "That pleased you," I stormed. "It frightened a woman in the woods!"

I set about packing my traps, grumbling various sarcasms, the last mutterings of a departed storm, for already I realized that I had taken out my own mortification upon him, and I was stricken with remorse.

"I wouldn't have frightened her for the world," he finally said, and his voice and his body shook with a strange violence. "I wouldn't have frightened her to please the angels in heaven!"

I stared at him helplessly, nor could I find words to answer or control the passion that my imbecile scolding had evoked.

"You think I told a lie?" he cried. "You think I lied when I said I could not help speaking to her?"

"No, no," I said earnestly. "I didn't mean—"

"Words?" He swept the feeble protest away, drowned in a whirling rebennece. "And what does it matter? You can't understand. When you want to know what to do you look back into your life and it tells you, and I look back—ah!" He cried out, uttering a half choked, incoherent syllable. "I look back and it's all—ah!" All these things you can do and can't do—all these infinite little things! You know, and Kerdec knows, and Glouglou knows, and every mortal soul on earth knows, but I don't know! Your life has taught you, and you know, but I don't know! I haven't had my life. It's gone! All I have is words that Kerdec has said to me. I would burn my hand from my arm and my arm from my body rather than trouble her or frighten her, but I couldn't help speaking to her any more than I can help wanting to see her again."

He paused, wiping from his brow a heavy dew, not of the best, but like that on the forehead of a man in crucial pain. I made nervous haste to seize the opportunity and said gently, almost timidly:

"But if it should distress the lady?"

"Yes—then I could keep away. But I must know that."

"I think you might know it by her running away—and by her look," I said mildly. "Didn't you?"

"No!" And his eyes flashed an added emphasis.

"Well, well," I said, "let's be on our way."

"I don't believe she was distressed," he went on. There was something, but it wasn't trouble. We looked straight at each other. I saw her eyes plainly, and it was—he paused and sighed, a sudden, brilliant smile upon his lips—"it was very—it was very strange."

There was something so glad and different in his look that, like any other dried up old blunderer in my place, I felt an instant tendency to laugh. It was that heavenly possession, the old insanity of the risibles, which makes a man think it a humorous thing that his friend should be discovered in love.

"But if you were wrong," I said, "if it did trouble her, and if it happened that she has already had too much that was distressing in her life?"

"You know something about her?" he exclaimed. "You know?"

"I do not," I interrupted in turn. "I have only a vague guess. I may be altogether mistaken."

"What is it that you guess?" he demanded abruptly. "Who made her suffer?"

"I think it was her husband," I said, with a lack of discretion for which I was instantly sorry, fearing with reason that I had added a final blunder to the long list of the afternoon—"that is," I added, "if my guess is right."

"Is he alive?" he cried sharply. "I don't know," I returned emphatically. "Probably I am entirely mistaken in thinking that I know anything of her whatever. I'd rather not say any more until I do know."

"Very well," he said quickly. "Will you tell me then?"

"Yes—if you will let it go at that."

"Thank you," he said, and with an impulse which was but too plainly one of gratitude, offered me his hand. I took it, and my soul was disquieted within me, for it was no purpose of mine to set inquiries on foot in regard to the affairs of Mme. d'Armand.

It was early dusk. From the courtyard of the inn came the sounds of laughter and chattering voices. Before the entrance stood a couple of open touring cars, the chauffeurs engaged in cooling the rear tires with buckets of water brought by a personage ordinarily known as Glouglou, whose look and manner as he performed this office for the leathern dignitaries so awed me that I wondered I had ever dared address him with any presumption of intimacy.

As we turned to enter the archway we almost ran into a tall man who was coming out, evidently intending to speak to one of the drivers.

The stranger stepped back with a word of apology, and I took note of him for a fellow countryman and a worldly lack of fashion indeed.

We were passing him when he uttered an ejaculation of surprise and stepped forward again, holding out his hand to my companion and exclaiming:

"Where did you come from? I'd hardly have known you."

Oliver seemed unconscious of the proffered hand. He stiffened visibly and said:

"I think there must be some mistake."

"So there is," said the other promptly. "I have been misled by a resemblance. I beg your pardon."

He lifted his cap slightly, going on, and we entered the courtyard to find a cheerful party of nine or ten men and women seated about a couple of tables.

I went almost as quickly to my pavilion and without lighting my lamp set about my preparations for dinner. The party outside, breaking up presently, could be heard moving toward the archway with increased noise and laughter. A girl's voice (a very attractive voice) called, "Oh, Cressie, aren't you coming?" and a man's, replied from near my veranda, "Only stopping to light a cigar."

A flutter of skirts and a patter of feet betokened that the girl came running back to join the smoker. "Cressie," I heard her say in an eager, lowered tone, "who was that devastating creature in white tulle?"

The man chuckled. "Monsieur sort of devastating—what? Monte Cristo hair, noble profile!"

"You'd better tell me," she interrupted earnestly. "If you don't want me to ask the waiter."

"But I don't know him."

"I saw you speak to him."

"I thought it was a man I met three years ago out in San Francisco, but I was mistaken. There was a slight resemblance. This fellow might have been a rather decent younger brother of the man I knew. He was the—"

My strong impression was that if the speaker had not been interrupted at this point he would have said something very unfavorable to the character of the man he had met in San Francisco.

I caught a last word from the girl as the pair moved away.

"I'll come back here with a band tomorrow night and serenade the beautiful one."

"Monsieur is served," said Amadee, looking in at my door five minutes later.

"You have passed a great hour just now, Amadee."

"It was like the old days, truly?"

"They are off for Trouville, I suppose?"

"No, monsieur; they are on their way to visit the chateau and stopped here only because the run from Paris had made the tires too hot."

"To visit Quesnay, you mean?"

"Truly. But monsieur need give himself no uneasiness. I did not mention to any one that monsieur is here. His name was not spoken. Mlle. Ward returned to the chateau today," he added. "She has been in England."

"Quesnay will be gay," I said, coming out to the table.

Continued.

HER EIGHTY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY
On the anniversary day we all met together;

The sun shone brightly, it was ideal weather,

'Twas the first time in years we had all been together.

There are four sons and two daughters,
Of the old stock left intact;

And their offspring, with the great grand pets,
Made more than thirty in fact.

From my children there sprang aunts and uncles,
And the neices and nephews which came in their wake.

To the full grown up cousins, tall and straight,
On the whole would make a picture for an artist to take.

For the wee great grand pets as they grouped together,
Made a scene which no one will fail to remember.

It was a love feast of a party for all done their best
To make the occasion a pleasant success,

Which it was, altho there was a few who failed to come;
We missed them, but did not let it spoil the fun.

And then we sat down to an old fashioned dinner,
The food was first class; our cook is a winner.

The table was groaning with the weight of the load
Of salads and solids and dainties untold.

They parted quite late, taking train to their homes.
There were four generations represented that day.

May they meet many times after I'm called away,
May they feel mother's presence with a blessing to all,

And may God add His blessing when I've answered the call.
Mrs. D. M. Taylor.

SWIFTER THAN AIRSHIP

In the list of the really great attractions today, none stands higher than that of Lyman's H. Howe's Travel Festival to be at the Grand Opera House on March 9. Though it has been before the American public for over 15 years, it is only in the past three years that it came into its own as is proven by the great crowds that daily attended it for the past few months in the finest theatres of the biggest cities. Its popularity is attested everywhere. In Philadelphia, at the Garrick Theatre, it was presented 180 times. In Ford's Opera House, Baltimore, 216 times. In the Nixon, Pittsburgh, 216 times. In Keith's Hippodrome, Cleveland, 144 times. In the Lyric, Cincinnati, 120 times. In the Garrick, St. Louis, 108 times. In the Shubert, Kansas City, 5 weeks. In the Royal Alexandra, Toronto, 5 weeks, and everywhere the new program created a sensation.

"DRYS" CARRY COUNTY
Bluffton, Ind., Feb. 28.—The drys carried Wells county by a majority of 1,560. None of the temperance forces had any idea that the majority would exceed 100 and many believed that it would not go over 500. The more sanguine "wets" predicted that the county, which has been dry by remonstrance for thirteen months, would vote to reinstate the saloons. The total vote, 5,162, came near reaching the presidential figures.

just a neighborly talk:

THE NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was chartered in 1857 on the petition of 36 prominent Wisconsin men. Organized as a purely mutual company and the welfare of policyholders being the paramount consideration, the officers of the company have always been conservative and careful so that this has come to be a fixed habit in Northwestern management.

Despite the early handicaps of location, limitation and competition, the Northwestern's liberality to policyholders, coupled with its remarkably low rate of expense for operating (for more than 30 years the lowest in the United States), the saving in mortality, from care in the selection of risks, and the high earning power of its assets, has made it one of the most prominent insuring and financial institutions in the United States.

Wisconsin has always been intimately connected with the affairs of this great company; 36 of its choicest pioneer citizens were its charter members and thousands of the sons and daughters of the Badger State have shared its half-century of endeavor and beneficence. Wisconsin men have always managed the Northwestern and its present official and operating force is composed of Wisconsin citizens. Of its 36 trustees, 25 are residents of Wisconsin. There are 6 general agencies in Wisconsin and each of these employs many district and sub-agents. January 1, 1910, the company had outstanding 34,151 policies on the lives of Wisconsin men, and, some day, the company will pay Wisconsin beneficiaries on account thereof, more than $75,000,000.

So the Northwestern is truly the HOME COMPANY, which has amply repaid Wisconsin in money and honor for its organization.

Speaking of money: The Northwestern has been liberal to Wisconsin. Disregarding payments for salaries, supplies, and the like, it has paid Wisconsin policyholders and their beneficiaries a total of $17,533,535.07 for death claims and endowments.

It has outstanding $2,639,221.67 to Wisconsin men on account of policy loans.

It has also now loaned $5,542,732.50 to Wisconsin borrowers on the security of real estate mortgages.

In the last eleven years, since the existing tax law has been operative, Wisconsin has received from the Northwestern as a Tax for the mere Privilege of Doing Business in the State, the enormous sum of $3,230,766.18, every cent of which was Paid by Policyholders.

The prevailing method of taxing life insurance companies in the United States is a percentage on premium receipts. The average rate is about 2 per cent.

In 1909, the Northwestern paid the State of Wisconsin the enormous sum of $403,238.68 in taxes alone, for the privilege of collecting from Wisconsin policyholders, and again disbursing, the sum of $2,549,205.66 premium receipts. This was at the rate of 15.8 per cent, or about eight times the average rate paid in other states.

Wisconsin's existing method of taxing the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company is a glaring injustice to all the policyholders of the company, for, in the final analysis, they pay the taxes.

And carry this other proposition in mind: The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company issues a policy so adaptable in meeting unforeseen circumstances, so comprehensive in its protection of all the interests of insured and beneficiaries, so equitable in its terms, and so economical in its cost (owing to large dividend returns) that it is the very best company in which to insure.

A statement of the 1909 receipts and disbursements with an exhibit of the company's assets, etc., as well as information concerning the New Policy will be mailed to any person, on request, by the following Wisconsin General Agents:

David N. Cameron, Cook Block, Oshkosh.

MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

Her dark eyes stared widely straight ahead.

pandemonium. She kept straight on. Then suddenly, while I waited in stinging shame, a clear voice rang out from a distance in an answering yodel to mine. There was a final call, clear and loud as a bugle, and she turned to the direction whence it came. Then Oliver Saffron came running lightly round the turn of the path. He stopped short.

Her hand pressed against her side. He lifted his hat and spoke to her, and I thought she made some quick reply in a low voice, though I could not be sure.

She held that startled attitude a moment longer, then turned and crossed the glade so hurriedly that it was almost as if she ran away from him. She did not seem to see me. Her dark eyes stared widely straight ahead, her lips were parted, and she looked white and frightened.

I stepped out to meet him, indignant upon several counts, most of all upon his own.

"You spoke to that lady?" And my voice sounded unexpectedly harsh and sharp to my own ears, for I had meant to speak quietly.

"I know—I know. It—it was wrong," he stammered. "I knew I shouldn't—and I couldn't help it."

"You expect me to believe that?"

"It's the truth. I couldn't."

I laughed skeptically. "I don't understand. It was all beyond me," he added huskily.

"What was it you said to her?"

"I spoke her name—Mme. d'Armand."

"You said more than that?"

"I asked her if she would let me see her again."

"What else?"

"Nothing," he answered lamely.

"And then she—then for a moment it seemed—for a moment she didn't seem to be able to speak?"

"I should think not," I shouted and burst out at him with satirical laughter. He stood patiently enduring it, his lowered eyes following the aimless movements of his hands, which were twisting and untwisting his flexible straw hat.

"But she did say something to you, didn't she?" I asked finally.

"She said, 'Not now.' That was all."

"I suppose that was all she had breath for! It was just the inconsequence and meaningless thing a frightened woman would say?"

"Meaningless?" he repeated and looked up wonderingly.

"Did you take it for an appointment?" I roared.

"No, no, no! She said only that and then—"

CENSUS MAN IS COMING

Rhinelander People Will Have To Answer Strange Questions
Within a few weeks the residents of Rhinelander will receive a call from the census enumerator. He will proceed to ask all manner of questions, some of which may seem rather impertinent, but don't lose your temper, and answer him with a smile. One is supposed to tell him the exact truth in all cases, but we know it will come a little difficult for some of the gentler sex of this city to follow the example of Geo. Washington when asked point blank, "How old are you?" Here is some other information you will be compelled to give the census man.
What is your house number?
What is your name?
The names of the members of your family?
What is the relationship of these people to you?
How old are you?
Are you, single, married, widowed or divorced?
How long have you been married
at all?
How many children have you?
Where were you born?
Where was your father born?
Your mother?
How long have you been in this country?
Are you naturalized?
Can you speak English? If not,
what can you speak?
What is your occupation?
Are you employed or an employer?
Were you out of work April 15, '10?
How long out of work in 1909?
Can you read and write?
Do you own or rent your home?
Any mortgage?
Are you a survivor of the Union or Confederate navy or army?
Are you blind? One or both eyes?
And—lastly—
Are you deaf or dumb?

FROM "GRANDMA" TAYLOR

In sending a little poem on her eighty-fifth birthday for publication in the New North, "Grandma" Taylor of Monico, writes: "This is probably my last contribution and I ask you to give it place in your nice paper. The New North is a credit to you, your town and county, and is growing in interest week by week. I only write for my own amusement and to keep up my power of thought as near to the end as possible, knowing full well that it cannot be far away. I send you a little rhyme on my eighty-fifth birthday, written upon request of my friends and neighbors. I know that it is of rather poor quality, but it is the best I can do. I feel that I am losing ground in every way I turn.
Yours respectfully,
Mrs. D. M. Taylor.

How often do you eat this food?

A short time ago there appeared in the columns of one of the prominent magazines an article on building brain and muscle by the proper selection of the foods you eat.
A good many people were surprised to find oatmeal placed at the top of the list of foods recommended; but if the article had appeared in an English or Scottish paper every reader would have expected to see first place given to good oatmeal.
As a matter of fact Great Britain and Europe come to us for tremendous quantities of Quaker Oats because it represents to them perfect food, being the richest in flavor and best in cleanliness and purity, of all oatmeals.
Convenience and economy are served by the way it is packed—regular size

APPEAL TO SUBSCRIBERS

The New North sends out a bunch of subscription bills this week to its patrons and it is hoped that all will respond as soon as possible. We again publish the order of the postmaster general which went into effect Jan. 1, 1908 regarding newspapers which circulate through the mails:
"A reasonable time will be allowed publishers to secure renewals of subscriptions, but unless subscriptions are expressly renewed at the time for which they are paid,
within the following periods: Dailies, within three months; weeklies, within one year; they shall not be counted in the legitimate list of subscribers, and copies mailed on account thereof shall not be accepted for mailing at the second-class postage rate of one cent a pound, but may be mailed at the transient second-class postage rate of one cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof, prepaid by stamps affixed."
This ruling makes it obligatory for publishers of weekly newspapers to secure renewals of subscriptions within one year after the date of expiration, otherwise the paper cannot be mailed at the second-class rate of one cent a pound.

ARE EATING ROBINS

The high prices for meats of all kinds have caused hungry humanity to make a tremendous assault upon the rabbits, which have been eaten in greater numbers during the past fall and winter than for many years.
says the Evening Wisconsin. There has doubtless been a heavy attack on game birds also, wherever laws for the preservation of game are wanting or poorly enforced. The Louisville Courier-Journal states that robins are selling at ten cents a dozen in Tennessee, in which state hunters are killing the birds by thousands. It is estimated that 150,000 birds have been killed within three weeks. A party of hunters bagged sixteen hundred, and a single hunter caught three hundred and seventy-seven in one tree. This slaughter is regrettable as the robin is a welcome visitor in the north, where it is protected and admired. The slaughter down south may explain nonarrivals of robins in their favorite nesting places a few weeks hence.

DISPUTE LAND RIGHTS

Word from Washington states that the bill which has been introduced to settle the conflicting claims of the state of Wisconsin, its grantees, the Lapoint and Lac du Flambeau bands of Chippewa Indians, to certain school and swamp lands in the reservations awaits a report from the department of the interior which, when received, the bill will be reported to the senate. The supreme court has decided that the fee of these lands is in the state, but are subject to an indeterminate right of occupancy on the part of the Indians, which complicates the right of the state, the patentees and the Indians, and no settlement can be made except by an act of congress.
The matter has been pending for many years.

It's The Best Polish I Ever Used

That's What Every One Says Who Tries

Black Silk Stove Polish

DON'T imagine for a moment that all brands of stove polish are the same.
Don't get the idea that to keep a nice glossy shine on your stove you must black it every few days. It's not a question of oft-repeated application.
It's a question of the stove polish you use.
Black Silk Stove Polish is 50 times better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison. It is a class all by itself. It stands to the fore as a brilliant glossy shine that doesn't rub off or dust off. It stands to the fore as long as any other shine. It makes old stoves look like new and lasts as long as any other shine. Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove, or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Black Silk Stove Polish has been made by the same formula and sold under one name for 25 years.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:
"I saw your advertisement that was unable to secure the polish here. I sent to you for a can and found Black Silk Stove Polish so much better than any I had ever used that I have ordered a hardware dealer to order a supply. He did so, and is now selling nearly everyone in the place your wonderful polish. I had no idea there could be such a difference in stove polishes."
"I tried the sample box of Black Silk Stove Polish and like it so well that I want to black all the other stoves in the house. Enclosed find 50 cents. Send polish for that amount by return mail. Our hardware merchant here will be glad to order it for you."
"I was having trouble in Chicago and they told me to use Black Silk Stove Polish. It is made the same way as the new one. After looking the polish did not rub off or dust off. It is way ahead of any polish I have ever used."
"I received the Black Silk Stove Polish and found it all you claim and the best I ever used."

Ask Your Dealer

Get Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand.
It is 50 times better than the ordinary kind, so why not have the best. Made in liquid or paste—same quality.

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH WORKS

The Black Silk Stove Polish is made from the finest materials, refined

How one man fooled his wife

She had been using her "favorite" baking powder. Wouldn't think of trying anything else, because "mother always used it," or some similar excuse. Hubby said she was prejudiced. He figured if Calumet, the new baking powder, selling at a moderate price, could be so successful, there must be some good in it. So he took a hand, and bought a can of Calumet, emptied the can containing her "favorite" baking powder and filled it with Calumet.

That evening, unsuspecting the trick, Wifey prepared and served some of her famous biscuit— piping hot, temptingly browned and puffed up to airy lightness, they were even more delicious than usual. Hubby, after considerable difficulty, succeeded in convincing her that the basis of the improvement was Calumet Baking Powder. And so an everlasting friend for Calumet was made.

This truthful little incident simply proves that the housewife is oftimes prejudiced against all baking powders except the one she has been using for years. She imagines that no other kind can possibly be as good. This is a mistaken impression. A trial of Calumet will prove that it is purer, more reliable; it has a greater leavening power than any other baking powder made. And it is moderate in price.

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY

List of Interesting Volumes Recently Placed On Shelves

GOOD WINTER FOR LOGGERS.

The present year will be a record breaker for loggers all over Wisconsin and Michigan, according to the statement of various authorities. Not only will there be more timber cut for the mills, but more pulpwood, poles and all other cedar products will be turned out this year than in any others of the present century. Cedar men report that they are putting on larger crews because of the greater activity in the cedar market. Railroad construction work will call for a great many ties besides those which are needed every year to keep the road beds up to the standard. Telephone and telegraph companies are extending their lines all of which require more poles and create a demand for the products of the lumberman's effort. Cedar posts are in good demand and their market value is comparatively high—Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

For swell shoes go to Jacobson's.

Teach Children to Be Fearless. Don't run to baby and pick him up the minute he falls. The child whose mother runs to him and moans over him the minute he falls is a much-to-be-pitied little man. Her terrified face and cry of "Are you hurt, darling? Tell mamma where. Poor little pet!" etc., will make him cry at once, whether he is hurt or not.

Very soon he will imagine that the slightest untoward event hurts him, and will grow peevish and fretful.

A child who is not fussed by a nervous and adoring mother is very different. He may have many falls; he probably will. But very soon, with his mother's cheery "No damage done, dearie!" in his ears, he will learn, unless things are really rather bad, to pick himself up and go on quite happily with his interrupted game.

Immense Leather Belt. The largest leather belt ever made was completed recently by a New York manufacturer for a Louisiana lumber company. It was 243 feet long, six feet wide and three-ply thick. The hides of 540 steers were utilized in the manufacture of the belt. As its delivery was a matter of urgency, the great roll of leather was shipped by express, and the bill for this service was $243.67.

Three Lakes families intend to leave soon for Northwestern Canada where they will embark in farming.

WICKLOW

The Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. Oscar Sutherland, Thursday afternoon, March 10.

Alfred Girard and family are moving onto F. P. Lee's farm. Mr. Girard will work the farm this year.

Rev. Heberlein of Tomahawk held services in the church here Sunday afternoon in place of Rev. Lewis.

On Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 23, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Brown. Also a daughter on the same date to Mr. and Mrs. John Mendink.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell of Tomahawk and Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker of Bradley attended church services here Sunday.

Mrs. Mina Taylor, who was quite sick for the past few days, is reported better at present writing.

Herbert Fox and Howard Lee expect to go to Chicago, Saturday, where they will visit relatives for a few weeks.

BUNDY

The lining of the "burner" fell in Friday morning, necessitating a shut down for the afternoon. The repairs were quickly made so that the night crew went on without any interruption.

HERE IS THE PROOF

That the best body-building and strengthening tonic for

Delicate Children

—is—

Vinol

"My 9 year old daughter was weak, pale, and had no appetite. I gave her Vinol, and she began to thrive at once. She gained rapidly in weight, color and strength."—Mrs. W. H. GILMORE, Darand, Mich.

Vinol builds up healthy flesh and makes thin little limbs round and plump. Children love to take it.

We return people's money without question if Vinol does not accomplish all we claim for it. Try it, please.

John J. Reardon, Druggist, Rhinelander.

"My two children, who were puny and ailing, rapidly gained flesh and strength when I began to give them Vinol. I proved that Vinol is a splendid tonic for delicate children."—Mrs. C. ALLEN, New Bedford, Mass.

Imposed on Author.

For careless generosity, Daudet, the great French writer, could not be out-clasped by any man of his time. At one time he used to place on the mantelpiece of his study, at the time when he held his weekly receptions, a bowl which was filled with silver coins. It was understood that if anyone of the bohemians of letters who came to see him needed a little financial assistance he could go to the bowl and help himself. The experiment naturally failed. There were those who came to the receptions only for the sake of the bowl; there were those who put too liberal an interpretation on the mute invitation extended to them. "I used to see fellows pocketing the coins by handfuls," said Daudet, "and in the end I had to abandon the practice."

Unreasonable.

The woman who wants to wear the trousers is unreasonable. She expects, after gaining her point, to keep right on using stockings.
